

Peace After Death

By Pastor Ronnie Wolfe

In Memory Of Toady Teague — 12-8-2015

From dawn to dusk life carries on
And soon the setting of the sun.
But sunsets shine in majestic glow,
For those in life prepared to go.

In her heart she sang a song
So deep just few could sing along,
And in her heart her love lay high
Expressed with ease to those close by.

Like flowers in the midst of spring,
Her fragrance aired like birds on wing.
Her disposition proud and wide
Her every move a smile supplied.

Her fun with children, tricks and all
Caught air to mischief, play, and gall.
But in the end with faces smug,
It always came to a sincere hug.

So in heaven she sings with clearer voice
And there with harmony rejoice
O'er sounds of joy before God's face
And for the peace of God's great grace.
