

The Day After Thanksgiving

By Pastor Dr. Ronnie Wolfe – November 25, 2011

Still, still my heart sings on, believing on His Precious Son.
One day is not enough to raise exhaustive song, extended praise.
So further still my heart sings on the praise of God's eternal song.
Just saved by grace through faith divine, sublimest thought is ever mine.

And when tomorrow's troubles come and strong desire to them succumb,
Again I turn my heart to thee, and pray thy word to set me free.
Then with thy words deep in my mind, I step on forward, life refined,
And put my trust alone in thee, still praising God his will to be.
