

The End of Life

For the funeral of Sue Price
by Pastor Dr. Ronnie Wolfe – Written 1-21-2012

Life's brief span so quickly done
At the setting of the sun;
Each life's memory just passed by,
Our minds now look to Heaven's sky.

Not forgetting the memories past,
Archived safe in mind at last;
Thoughts of gentle words then spoken,
Of love impassioned and oaths not broken.

A wife of Proverbs 31
A husband blessed, two flesh as one.
Faithful love to life's rash end,
A woman, a love, a man's best friend.

Faithful Christian, known of all,
Faithful Christian, standing tall.
A church's trusting saint and friend,
Dependable through thick and thin.

But then, as always, death won out,
But faith had victory, there is no doubt.
"By grace through faith" the gospel story
To give at last God's fitting glory.

In a few short years we will all be gone;
Our abstract lives have sung their song.
Then quickly carried to see Christ's face,
We'll give all glory to God's great grace.
